

MARLS 2018 Conference

February 21 – 23, 2018

Raddison Hotel

Helena, Montana

The Central Chapter invites you to attend the 2018 MARLS Conference being held at the Raddison Hotel and Convention Center, Helena, Montana.

A true professional knows that you can never stop learning. Whether it is updates on the latest in technology from our exhibitors, learning the nuances of riparian issues, or finding out if your survey is legally defensible, the conference offers an opportunity to sharpen your skills and maybe even make your business more profitable. The conference is also an economical and convenient way to earn your Professional Development Hours.

As important as the seminars may be, just as important are those conversations that you have with your fellow professionals over lunch or in the hallways. Many times you may find a colleague that has had a similar problem that you have had, and is happy to share a solution with you that will save you time and headaches. There will probably be a new surveyor or an LSIT at the table who will be listening intently and learning as much, if not more from you, than they are from our speakers.

It is incumbent upon us as an Association to reach out to other professions and provide opportunities for us to let them know more about the services we provide and the importance to them and to the public of having a licensed professional perform those services. Every opportunity to engage with an attorney, realtor, title agent or other professional is an opportunity to advance our own profession. We invite other groups to join us and hope to have opportunities build cross-professional relationships.

A goal of MARLS is to be a meaningful and relevant organization that serves its members and the public well. The only way we can meet that goal is through the active participation of each of our members. Mark your calendars today. Registration for the 2018 MARLS Conference will be available in by December and we will strive to keep you updated as we get closer to our conference in February.
